

Dear friends in Jesus Christ: Grace and peace to you from that same Lord and Saviour;

There once was a commercial aired on television where a gas station attendant tells a lost motorist who is seeking direction: “You can’t get there from here.” Now that is impossible as you know, and makes the statement absurd and also funny. It is however, a good introduction to what I would like to communicate here. The ultimate question of direction from every traveller in this world is “How do I get to heaven from here?” Put another way: “What must I do to be saved?” People are looking for a way to heaven. Yet we have to admit that many people are looking in the wrong places and going in the wrong direction. Added to all this we also know that most of the people in the world are lost.

Have you ever taken a drive with a person who gets lost and then refuses to admit he or she is lost and insists on driving on without asking for help and direction until you both are hopelessly lost? I have met some people who do not believe the electronic voice of their own GPS. That is when anger, hatred, frustration and stubbornness sets in and total unreasonableness becomes the norm. Knowing you are lost is one thing – admitting it to anyone is another. Red faced and humiliated a friend of mine once pulled over to ask a person directions. As he pulled alongside the road to ask a fellow leaning on the fence directions – the fellow looked out from under his hat and said “Lost eh?”

My friend immediately drove away without a word. He was lost and he knew it and he wasn’t going to admit it. Nevertheless, lost is lost. The fact that a person will not admit that he is lost does not make him any less lost. Lost people need to be helped out, because they will stay lost. Yes it is true that the occasional lost person finally finds his way. But it’s not easy and it frequently costs a lot of time, energy and money to reach the final destination.

To be spiritually lost is a terrible way to be lost. Spiritually lost people cannot ever find their way to the ultimate destination. Spiritually lost people are lost forever and would have no help except they be sought out and helped. Jesus said that He has come to “seek and save the Lost!”

We are members of the Lord’s search party and I have orders from the Seeker to give direction to heaven to the lost even if they want to remain lost or will not admit they care.

Yes, you can get there from here! Heaven is possible and the way there is clearly marked. Jesus Christ is the way to heaven. Jesus Christ wants to tell all the lost about the ultimate destination. Jesus Christ is the Way, the Truth and the Life. We who know the way because He has shown us the way and given us the strength to follow Him must point out the direction to everyone. Don’t you think? This is something we don’t have to do alone. Each and every day we have the Holy Spirit filling us and helping us and endowing us with our own Global Positioning System. We know where we are and we know where we are going. This is all because of Jesus who always knew where He was and what He was about. The direction He took has become our all in all.

Rejoicing in His days
